The poller of the measure we think must strike every redection and conside ate mind as fraught with the createst with, if it does nor prove designed we to the frequier welthements -While we believe it is now necessary and best for all parties, that the Reserve Indiana be removed North of Red River praceably by the Government and that that course will speedily be adopted, we are firmly convinced that if the resh and husty course proposed by the frontier people of forcibly expelling them is parsued, it will be destruction to their our best interests, and that it will not only drive the fron tier settlements back, but result in the murdering and scalping of innecent women and children, with all the attracities that is usually resorted to by exusperated Indiana, smarting under a sense of wrongs whether they be real or imaginary. If the Recerve Indians could be exterminated at one blow, if inne cent and guilty could be dispatched at once and in discriminately, there might be safety in such course, however we might question its justice and deplore sty inha manity. But who, knowing the character of these Hadians-trained and increwhich they are threatened, and of the annihilation will ou city fold their arms and bow their heads for the stroke? The law of self-preservation is implant el in the nature of an Indian, as well as in that of 1500 Indians when warned as these of the lower Re serve are, and such warriors as they are, cannot b exterminated by a force heatily raised and imperand those that escape are at once converted into de mons, ready for the commission of any drime. howthe swiftness of the Arab of the desert, fly back to their fastaceses until they can safely make another descent for ruples and murder. God forbid that this should be the case; but if the rash measure propose by the frontier people has been or shall be carried out. we say fervently and sincorely, God protect the ex posed settlers and their wemen and children.

We hope again that the sober second thought the people will prevait-that calm counsel may awa them. But we are hoping almost against hope. Wknow that the most intense excitement prevails along the frontier border. We know that companies have been organized, that a thousand or 1500 men are ox and that they are justified in adopting this course. It is therefore that we await for the news from the threatre of this imbroglie with great solicitude and with much misgiving. If reason shall assert he away, and calm counsels prevail, we shall hearthy say to those who call down the evil consequences the heads of thomseives and their families, " the cans't not say I did it."

Let them be thus removed and there will no doubt be a general and usualmous rejoicing. For I do believe, and the people of our county gener-ally believe likewise, that the consummetion of this object, the pacable removal of the Reserve Indians, ould in a short time add greatly to the population ad presperity of the county. But should this object and presperity of the county. But should this object to be effected by force, as is now in contemplation, the result might easily be inferred. Those, among the Indians, who should make their escape would immediate to meet the contracts and necestary. So one for the delivery a liberal reward. Address meat dians, who should make their escape would immediate. dians, who should make their escape would immediately seek their wild companions, and obtain that represenge which is characteristic to the whole Indian tribe, depredation would be a meanced answ. Horse stealing and murder would soon ensue more than double fold. The citizena of Young and ather from the sountly would necessarily be kept in definitioned suspense. The merciless murder of their wives and children would soon become a daily cencern, and the final result; the country vacated and Indian power rate supreme throughout the frontier. LAMBDA. Respectfully, The last We cut the following concerning our Texas on c of the Delta. It is all we have seen conerning the Bryan and Reagan difficulty :— Gen. Sain Houston delivered his valedictory -day, to a crowded Senate and still more rowded galleries Every seat was filled, and very ear was strained to catch the words of "old chief," as they fell cloquently from his lips. It was the last speech he expected to deliver in the council chamber of the nation, as he was about to retire to the shades of private life, after public service of forty-five years, this speech was told of pathos and beautiful pleasure by the immerse auditory. It is ru-mored among Texans here, that Old Sam will elected to fill the seat of the lamented Henerson which is now occupied by Col. Matt Ward. We had quite an exciting scene in th

House of Representatives this morning, be ween Messys, Rengan and Bryan, of Texas, An issue had been lugged in some days ago by Mr. Bryan, which was responded to at the me by Judge Reagan, and all supposed the ispute it an end. Not so, however. Letters ad been received here from Western Texas stating that a combination was being formed for the purpose of breaking down Reagan in the Eastern Section. Rengan knew this, and was ready for the issue. This morning Mr. Bryan again opened the sore, and in conclu ding his remarks he denounced the Union principles and national platform of his coleague. Reagan retorted in terms quite as animated, and complained of the combination illuded to. By this time most of the mem bers were on their feet, and crowding round. Mr. Bryan said he hoped if his colleague had any complaints to make he would seek another field, and not drag them before a legislative This taunt brought Judge Reagan again to his feet, who announced his readiness to meet responsibility any where and in any way, but claimed the right to denounce functicismwild, reckless, fire-enting fanaticism-whether at the North or the South, and quite as injurious in the one section as the other. Th Judge thes planting himself on the Union platform of Gen. Houston, spoke with gree eloquence for a few moments and presented the issue distinctly "for or against the Constitution tion." and upon this issue he said he would ; before his constituents and advocate the Co ditution he had sworn to support, in spite ombinations and conspiracies to break h nembers crowded around and congratulate
